

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy and procedure is to provide our staff and students:

- a diverse, safe and inclusive learning environment.
- an environment that respects and values the individuality of each student.
- a culturally safe and supportive learning environment.
- a learning environment and workplace where all individuals feel respected, valued, and empowered including:
 - young people,
 - First Nations people,
 - people from culturally and linguistically diverse background,
 - people of different genders,
 - people from diverse socio-economic backgrounds,
 - neurodivergent people, and
 - people who may identify as LGBTIQ+.

2. DEFINITIONS

First Nations people - refers to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples who have identified themselves or have been identified by a representative (for example, their parent or guardian), as being of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander origin. They are not one group but rather comprise hundreds of groups that have their own distinct set of languages, histories and cultural traditions.

Culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD) refers to individuals or communities who come from different cultural backgrounds and speak languages other than English. The term is often used in to describe people who have migrant, refugee, or First Nations backgrounds. Key Aspects of CALD:

- Cultural diversity – Includes people from different ethnicities, traditions, religions, and customs.
- Linguistic diversity – Covers those who speak languages other than English at home or as their first language.
- Migration and refugee backgrounds – Recognises that people may have immigrated from different countries, bringing diverse experiences and challenges.

- First Nations communities – While Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples have unique identities, they are often included in discussions about cultural diversity.

Neurodivergent refers to individuals whose brains function differently from what is considered "typical" (or neurotypical). This term is commonly used to describe people with conditions such as:

- Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD)
- Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD)
- Dyslexia (difficulty with reading and language processing)
- Dyspraxia (challenges with coordination and movement)
- Dyscalculia (difficulty with math-related concepts)
- Tourette Syndrome
- Other cognitive or learning differences

The term neurodivergent is part of the neurodiversity movement, which emphasises that differences in thinking, learning, and processing information are natural variations of the human brain, rather than "disorders" that need to be fixed. It promotes inclusivity, acceptance, and the idea that diverse ways of thinking can bring together unique strengths and perspectives.

People who may identify as LGBTIQ+ refers to individuals who might recognise themselves as part of the LGBTIQ+ community. The acronym stands for:

- L – Lesbian
- G – Gay
- B – Bisexual
- T – Transgender
- I – Intersex
- Q – Queer or Questioning
- + – Other diverse gender identities, sexual orientations, and variations in sex characteristics that are not explicitly included in the acronym (such as non-binary, asexual, pansexual, etc.)

The phrase "may identify as" acknowledges that identity is personal, fluid, and self-defined. It respects that individuals might be exploring or affirming their identity at different stages of their lives and that not everyone uses the same labels. It also avoids assuming how someone identifies, reinforcing inclusivity.

The following strategies that COLLINS INSTITUTE OF TRAINING will apply to establish and support a culturally safe learning and work environment for First Nations people:

- (iv) Annual Cultural Awareness Training. Cultural awareness training is a key component of our efforts to build a more inclusive learning environment for First Nations students. All staff will participate in cultural awareness training at least once per year. This will include topics such as:

- why cultural awareness is important
- the cultures of First Nations peoples
- stereotypes, biases and cultural misunderstandings that can arise in cross-cultural interactions
- communication styles, nonverbal cues and other cultural differences that can impact learning and relationships

- strategies for promoting cultural awareness and inclusion in the classroom (online and in physical classrooms)
- important dates
- the benefits of inclusion for all students and staff.

(v) Encouraging and supporting First Nations students to enrol. People from under-represented groups (including people with disability and First Nations people) are explicitly encouraged to apply for enrolment on our website and in our Course Brochures (Refer to: Advertising and Marketing).

The Student Support Officer will support the student to complete the enrolment process and identify any special needs and adjustments that can be made to ensure their successful studies as part of the enrolment process (Refer to: Enrolment and Student Support and Wellbeing).

(vi) Creating a culturally safe learning environment for First Nations students. We recognise that First Nations peoples do not always have the same level of access to vocational education and training as non-Indigenous Australians, nor the same positive experiences. In light of this, we provide specific supports to First Nations people to assist them to participate in and complete training. Refer Diversity and Inclusion.
